Overlooking the prestigious Premier Cru plot of “Les Gouttes d’Or” in Meursault, the “Les Tillets” parcel thrives at an altitude of 320 metres on a prime hillside, facing southeast.

In this elevated position, the 40-year-old vines draw their nourishment from a pebbly, white, clay-rich soil. This unique geology, combined with the altitude, gives the wine a character that is at once refined, taut, and deep.

The nose blends white flowers, citrus, and white-fleshed fruits, with a subtle salty mineral note. On the palate, the wine is full-bodied and precise, supported by a lovely crispness and a long, lingering finish.

A precise, vibrant, and elegant Meursault. The quintessence of Chardonnay, this wine reaches its full potential after five to 15 years in the cellar.
